

Communication Performance Interpretation Framework (CPIF)

A structured workflow for quantitative digital science communication evaluation

Metrics are interpreted according to the communication processes they represent and the limits of observational platform data.